

Telling Tales

A writer's workshop for students in grades 3-5

Telling Tales is a new After School program where young authors will learn that the magical can happen in the midst of the ordinary! Participants will hone their writing skills while learning the elements of fantasy writing.

This six-week program is a wonderful opportunity for students who love to write. They will lose themselves in make-believe, creating imaginative fantasy stories. The class is taught by Hamilton Elementary School teacher Ms. Carolyn Cooney, who is eager to share her passion for creative writing.
